China Lights to light up Lantern Park

Grand light show at Dasara Exhibition Grounds to be opened by Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh this evening

A 20-member team from China are working round-the-clock on the Lantern Park at Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

Mysuru, Oct.28 (MTY&BCT)- Mysuru's night view is all set to get brighter with a first-of-its kind 'Glow Garden' or 'Lantern Park' that has come up at the Dasara Exhibition Grounds in the heart of the city. Artists have spent endless hours creating the crafts and installations that glow at night, transforming the place into a grand light show.

The Lantern Park will be inaugurated today (Oct.28) at 7 pm by Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh in the presence of District Minister G.T. Devegowda, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Additional DC T. Yogesh and Tourism Department Deputy Director H.P. Janardhan and other officials at Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

However, there will be another round of inauguration by Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy when the Lantern Park is fully completed, sources said.

The Department of Tourism has set up this Park at a cost of Rs.1.50 crore at 15,000 square feet area.

Mysuru-based Dream Petals is implementing this project that has been designed to reflect Dasara culture, tradition and history besides reflecting the contributions of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. The Lantern Park will help provide insights into the traditional Mysore way of life and culture.

This is the first time it is being designed on such a massive scale.

A twenty-member expert team, hired by Dream Petals, is setting up this Lantern Park which also features a Rose Garden and Lotus Garden created with over 5,000 LED bulbs. These Chinese experts have successfully created Lantern Parks in United Kingdom, Netherlands and other countries.

Lantern Park in city will depict 409 years of resplendent history of Dasara, the glorious days of Vijayanagara Empire, Wadiyars of Mysuru and other Dasara-related activities.

With a 3.1 crore backlog of pending cases and 23,000 vacancies, judges will now have to do a "judicial audit" of all temples, mosques and churches —TOI news report.

Two judges bemoaning the extra workload that has been dumped on them.

1st Judge: Forget working 24/7, if all us judges worked 25/8 we still wouldn't be able to clear those 3.1 core pending cases in 100 years. On top of which the Supreme Court says we have to do a judicial audit of all places of worship. What is a judicial audit? 2nd Judge: It's meant to ensure that places like Sabarimala can't stop certain people from entering and that all places of worship are open to everyone, regardless of caste, creed or gender. We also have to check that they have proper toilet facilities.*

1st Judge: But how many places of worship are there in the country? 2nd Judge: As of last count there were 20 lakh major temples, three lakh major mosques and thousands of churches. That's excluding the disputed site at Ayodhya, which no one knows if it's a mosque or a temple.*

1st Judge: With all that lot to audit, we won't have any time to do our real job which is to try lawbreakers and send them to jail. So all those criminals, rapists and murderers and robbers and scamsters — will have a field day with no one there to convict them. 2nd Judge: And to make matters worse, the sarkar won't let us recruit more judges, even though there are 23,000 vacancies and keeps turning down applicants.*

1st Judge: Yeah, like the last one it turned down on grounds of lack of experience because the guy had tried only one case that anyone had heard of, a civil suit involving two women and a disputed infant. 2nd Judge: I know the one you mean. Wasn't he the chap who went by the name of Solomon....? — In The Times of India

Salt-water paintings

Tokyo: Japanese self-taught artist Mai Hirashima has created saltwater paintings by useing saltwater as paint.

Mai Hirashima uses saltwater as paint, carefully applying it on black paper canvases, using small brushes and thin bamboo skewers, and then applying heat to cause the water to evaporate and the salt crystallize in the desired shape. It's a laborious and time-consuming process, but the results are nothing short of awe-inspiring.

The young Japanese artist came up with the idea of painting with saltwater while contemplating ways of recycling crystallized or contaminated cooking salt.

Just because it wasn't edible anymore didn't meant it had lost its usefulness completely, so she started mixing it with water experimenting with it as an art medium.

Amazing wrist watches!

Tokyo: A Japanese steampunk enthusiast has created the most amazing wristwatches one has ever seen. They are definitely not the most practical wristwatches, nor the most compact ones, but in terms of uniqueness and wow-factor, they are on a whole other level.

FRISK_P's mission is "to make wristwatches that nobody else makes". Luckily, FRISK_P posts lots of photos and videos of her creations on her social media accounts. FRISK_P uses software like 3D CAD and Fusion 360 to design all the parts of his steampunk wristwatches, and then brings them into the real world using a 3D printer.

For her amazing automation watch, she apparently incorporated three servomotors and a microcomputer board as well.

This lady has also created an awesome steampunk musical keyboard, a steampunk rayguu and even an awesome gun that can be mounted on a cat.

VOICE OF THE READER

Srirangapatna Dasara:
Let historic truth prevail

Sir,

It was heartening to note that Dasara celebration was being revived at Srirangapatna on a grand scale reminiscent of the bygone era (SOM dated Oct. 17).

The report stated "CM H.D. Kumaraswamy inaugurated the event by offering flowers to the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari placed in a wooden Ambari on the caparisoned elephant Abhimanyu at Bannimantap near Kiranguru Circle off Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway." This is nothing but making a mockery of history. To call a nondescript small Mantap as the famous Banni Mantap of yore is an insult to the legacy of Wadiyars.

Here are some historic facts:

Sir Mark Wilks, who wrote the first definitive History of Mysore after collecting information — both oral and through scriptures during his term as Resident of Mysore, writes thus in his book, Historical Sketches of the South Indian History:

"On the morning of the 12th of August, the day on which they were expected to arrive, the gates of the Fort were not opened at the accustomed hour; and with the first of clear daylight, a tremendous cannonade opened on Hyder and his troops from all the works which bore on the position; which was the Maha Noumi Muntup, situated on the ground now occupied by a part of the Deria-Dowlut Baug...."

He further describes Maha-Noumi Muntup as:

"The pavilion of the great ninth," namely the last day of the festival commonly called the Dessara: on which day the Raja performed at this pavilion the ceremony of preparing his arms and pitching his tent and standard."

Similarly he also elaborates on Deria-Dowlut Baug as:

"The garden of the wealth of the sea" with a Palace erected and so named by Tippoo. The walls are covered with rude paintings of his military exploits, and particularly the defeat of Colonel Baillie in 1780."

Thus Wilks clearly establishes that the present Deria Daulat Garden was the place where the Maha-Naumi Mantap was located. This was the place where Hyder had camped when his one time protege Dewan Khande Row attacks him from the ramparts of the Fort.

This fact corroborated in a Kannada Book called "Yadashtu Haidar Nama" (ಯಾದಾಸ್ತು ಹೈದರ ನಾಮಾ) published by Karnataka Government State Archives, where the same incident is described as:

ಹೈದರಲಿಖಾನ ಬಹದೂರರು ಉಭಯ ಕಾವೆರಿ ಮಧ್ಯೆ ಮಹಾನೌಮಿ ಮಂಟಪದ ಬಳಿ ದಂಡು ಇಳಿದರು – meaning Hyder Ali Khan Bahadur camped with his army at Maha Naumi Mantap situated between the two halves of Cauvery.

Kirangur is on the other bank of Cauvery and it is unrealistic to expect Ranadhira and his large entourage would cross the river to perform the Navami puja ! Besides, the so called Mantap is too small for a Royal Durbar !

In a similar work edited by Ti. Ta. Sharma called ಹೈದರ ನಾಮಾ, the author repeats the above narration:

ಹೈದರಲಿಖಾನ ಬಹದರರೂ ಉಭಯ ಕಾವೆರಿ ಮಧ್ಯೆ ಮಹಾರ್ನವುಮೀ ಮಂಟಪದ ಬಳಿ ದಂಡುಯಿಳಿದರು..

Again in another place in the same book the author says:

ನವಾಬರು ಕೊಯಮತ್ತೂರಿನಿಂದ ಪಟ್ಟದ ಬಳಿಗೆ ಬಂದು ಮಹಾರ್ನವುಮೀ ಮಂಟಪದ ಬಳಿಯಿಳಿದರು.

Thus these records put things beyond doubt that Mahanavami Mantap was within the island and outside the Fort and Hyder and army normally used to camp at this place and it was here he built Deria Daulat.

The fact that one of the three branches of Banagara Doddi Canal built by Ranadhira culminated at Deria Daulat Baugh also adds credence to this fact.

Lastly, in the Kannada classic by Govinda Vaidya, the court scholar of Ranadhira in his famous work "Kantirava Narasaraja Vijaya" while describing Vijayadashami procession says:

ಪುರದ ಬಹಿರ್ಭಾಗದ ಪೂರ್ವದಿಸೆಯಲಿ
ಪಿರಿದಪ್ಪ ಶಮಿಯ ಮಂಟಪವ
ಪರಿಪರಿಯಲಿ ಬಹುಸಿಂಗರಗೈಸಿದ
ಧುರಧೀರ ಲಿಂಗೆಯ ಗೌಡ

Meaning the Shami Mantapa which is outside the town and on the eastern direction was decorated exquisitely by Lingayya Gowda. This also corroborates the above fact as Deria Daualt is located on the eastern side and outside the town/Fort.

One wonders who is behind the above inspired story of calling a nondescript Mantap as the Mahanavami - Shami Mantap !

This should stop and the historic truth should prevail.

If the State really wants to revive the famous Dasara which originated at Srirangapatna in 1610, then the procession should start from Janana Mantap (where the old Palace of Wadiyars existed) of Maharaja Mummadi Krishna Raja Wadiyar and end at Deria-Dowlut Baug.

ArKID card distribution under progress

Speaking to SOM, Regional Consultant, Suvarna Arogya Suraksha Trust, Department of Health and Family Welfare, Dr. H.S. Prasad said the Trust has taken up the initial phase distribution of Arogya Karnataka Health Identification Cards (ArKID) at T. Narasipur Government General Hospital. So far, the Trust generated & distributed more than 15,000 cards in T. Narasipur taluk.

The Government has distributed cards at 10 identified hospitals across the State including T. Narasipur Government Hospital. Measures have been chalked out for distribution of cards in all taluk Government-run hospitals in all 30 districts of the State in the coming days, he said

The process of distribution of cards will be intensified across the district once the government deploys adequate manpower, supplies computers and other facilities. The card will be generated based on the submission of Below Poverty Line (BPL) card and Aadhaar card, said Prasad.

BPL card holders can avail free treatment from Rs.30,000 to Rs.1.50 lakh every year at all recognised Government and private hospitals. The Trust will recommend the patients to private hospitals if there are no such facilities at Government hospitals. Suvarna Suraksha Trust will reimburse 30% of treatment cost to all Above Poverty Line (APL) card holders, he said.

ArKID card is not mandatory

Dr. Prasad said that people can avail free treatment under 'Arogya Karnataka Scheme' at all Government hospitals after submission of photocopies of Aadhaar card and ration cards as government had modified this scheme recently.

As per modified rules, ArKID card is not mandatory. However, the Trust will generate and distribute the card if any one approaches seeking the Universal Health Card. He said that Trust had identified 38 Government and Private Hospitals for patients to avail secondary, tertiary and emergency care treatments in Mysuru district.

Following are some of the Private Hospitals identified by the Trust: Narayana Hrudayalaya, Jayadeva Heart Care and Research Centre, Cauvery Hospital, Sigma Hospital, Apollo Hospital, CSI Holdsworth Mission Hospital, Bibi Ayesha Milli Hospital, Brindavan Hospital and Bharath Cancer Hospital.

Permission must

He said the patients, who want to take benefits of the scheme, must seek permission from the District Hospital authorities in case they want to avail treatment at private hospital for secondary and tertiary health problems.

Over 407 diseases have been identified under secondary health problems and 306 under tertiary health problems including kidney, heart, cancer, and other ailments.

However, he clarified that there is no need to seek prior permission in emergency cases like accident, burn injuries, cardiac arrest and life-threatening diseases.

"I have always been emotional," says CM

Mysuru, Oct.28 (RK&NNN)- "I have always been an emotional person, right from my childhood and that is the only way I know to react," said Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK).

He was addressing the media after he came out of the Passing Out Parade at the Karnataka Police Academy (KPA) in Nazarbad yesterday and was reacting to a question about his emotional outburst in Mandya on Friday.

He said that just because he is not enjoy good health he is not the person to sit quiet. To another question on the allegations that the coffers of the State were empty, he said that the finances of the State were in healthy condition and there was no cause for worry.

On loan waiver, he said that it cannot be waived at one go and asked former Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa to wait for 15 more days to see for himself whether it will be done or not.

Reacting strongly to the allegation of Yogeshwar that the CM was fighting elections with transfer money, Kumaraswamy caustically asked, "Who is this Yogeshwar?"

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy presenting the Best Woman Probationary Officer Trophy to G. Anusha of Bengaluru at the Passing Out Parade held at Karnataka Police Academy (KPA) in city yesterday as KPA Director Vipul Kumar looks on.

"Yogeshwar had grown in politics cheating. He does not have a moral right to speak against me. I have given jobs on merit in Vidhana Soudha and not taken money from anyone to give jobs. I am prepared for an open challenge on this issue," he said.

Kumaraswamy said that he would canvas for Ugrappa in Ballari. "I will participate in the 103 Probationary Tahsildars send off function in Mysuru on Oct.31 and then leave for Ballari to campaign and even H.D. Deve Gowda will be campaigning there," he said.

Asked about MeToo, he said that he did not know anything about it. "Don't I have any other better work to do.?" he asked the media and everyone burst into laughter.

On the allegations that Vidhana Soudha doors were closed to discuss about mid-term elections, he said that the closed door meeting was about giving support price to farmers for corn and regarding the development of Karnataka Milk Federation and dairy products and it had nothing to do with politics.

Regarding load-shedding, he said that there was no load-shedding and between 5 pm and 10 pm, 8,600 MW power was required. There was also shortage of coal. Even in spite of this problem, there was 24-hour power supply. The farmers were also getting power under Niranthara Jyothi scheme.

Forgery case: Former Mayor's appeal dismissed

Mysuru, Oct.28 (RK&BCT)- The Second Additional District and Sessions Court yesterday upheld the verdict pronounced by First Chief Judicial Magistrate (CJM) Court in a forgery case against former Mayor and Advocate R.G. Narasimha Iyengar.

In May this year, the First Chief Judicial Magistrate (CJM) Court had sentenced Narasimha Iyengar to one year simple imprisonment and had imposed a fine of Rs.10,000 in the forgery case. Iyengar had gone on appeal at Second Additional District and Sessions Court after the lower Court verdict.

Upholding the judgement of the lower Court, Judge Vijayakumar M. Anandashetty quashed the appeal filed by Narasimha Iyengar and has recommended the Bar Council to take disciplinary action against Narasimha Iyengar and prosecution witness Advocate Chidambaram.

The Court also ordered that the documents and the judgement copies be sent immediately to the lower Court for appropriate action. Senior Public Prosecutor Anand Kumar had argued for the State in the Court.

Following the verdict at the Second Additional District and Sessions Court, the First CJM will carry out further legal proceedings against Narasimha Iyengar.

Case history

Iyengar, who was the advocate for complainant M.B. Parvathi (Tiny Bidappa), had filed a case against Allahabad Bank in 1993 at the Consumer Court for an unexplained withdrawal of money towards loan account.

The Court, after hearing the case in 2006, had given the judgement in favour of Parvathi and had ordered the Bank to give two cheques for Rs.84,600 and Rs.500 respectively to the Court.

In the meantime, Iyengar forged the signature of Parvathi and had transferred the amount to his account following which Parvathi had filed a complaint in 2008.

Following a Police complaint, the cheques and other related documents were sent to Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) which in its report dated July 1, 2009 had stated that signature and writing, behind the cheque were forged. Based on the FSL report, the Police had submitted a chargesheet against Iyengar.

Following this, the First CJM Court convicted Advocate Iyengar. Judge Yashwanth Kumar, who held the Advocate guilty of the crime, sentenced him to one year simple imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000 and an additional two months imprisonment if he fails to pay the fine.

'I never gave up my fight'

Reacting to the upholding of the verdict by the Second Additional District and Sessions Court, M.B. Parvathi said that she would pray that her case will set the standards for legal fraternity while serving the victims of corruption.

"This man had robbed the amount (initially cheated by the bank) which I fought against Allahabad Bank for 15 years in Consumer Forums of Mysore, Bangalore and New Delhi. It is next to impossible for a widowed farmer to fight to that extent," she said.

"I never gave up my fight and in 1993, when my Bank loan was overdue and with no income sources for repayments, my only son Kishore Bidappa, an Automobile Engineer, left me all alone at my remote farm and worked in the Middle East to clear the Bank loan. Even this disputed amount was paid to the last pie," she added.

Mysuru, Oct.28 (MTY&DM)- The Congress won the prestigious APMC (Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee) President post defeating the JD(S) in a keenly contested polls that took place at the APMC yard at Bandipalya on Mysuru-Nanjangud road yesterday.

K. Prabhuswamy of the Congress was declared the President by lottery after both he and JD(S) candidate S. Siddegowda were tied at eight votes each. The JD(S) settled for the Vice-President post, with its candidate Javarappa defeating Savithramma of the Congress. Javarappa, A AHINDA leader, is said to be a strong follower of District Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD).

Former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah reportedly played an instrumental role in ensuring that a Congress member secured the plum position, according to sources.

Although the JD(S) had a simple majority in the APMC, one of its members cross voted to hand the President's post to the Congress. As both the Congress and JD(S) candidates secured eight votes, the post was decided by a lottery, which went in favour of the Congress candidate Prabhuswamy. Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu was the Returning Officer. Soon after the declaration of the result, an elated Prabhuswamy credited former CM Siddharamaiah and former MUDA Chairman D. Dhruvakumar for his victory.

Pointing out that he would also like to thank rebel JD(S) leader K. Harish Gowda for the win, Prabhuswamy said that the APMC election proves that the Congress remains a force to be reckoned with in Chamundeshwari and Varuna assembly constituencies.

On the other hand, defeated JD(S) candidate S. Siddegowda noted that this election was an inversion of the previous APMC poll result. 'In the last APMC election, the JD(S) had managed to secure the prestigious President's post despite Congress being the largest party. But this time, despite the efforts of District Minister GTD, we could not win', Siddegowda said.

The Congress and the JD(S) which have an alliance at the State-level had locked horns to take control of Mysuru APMC.

Musings on Dasara Exhibitions

DOWN THE AGES...

Tile-work products at the Industrial Exhibition in Mysore (1912).

Every year, Dasara Exhibition is held as part of the Nada Habba. However, sadly, the preparations are never on time. There is hardly a year when the Expo has opened along with the commencement of the ten-day Dasara festivities. This has been happening in spite of the fact that a separate Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) has been set up. This shows the utter lack of planning as the visitors are greeted with empty stalls even after the Dasara celebrations are over.

Everyone wonders why the Ministers and the bureaucrats concerned in charge of the Dasara Exhibition do not follow the model left behind by the erstwhile Mysore Royal Family. R. Raja Chandra, the son-in-law of late Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar, the last ruler of Mysore, has gone down the memory lane digging into the history when the Dasara Exhibition was first held in 1888 and how it transformed over the years. Now read on...

In October 1888 during the Dasara festivities, an Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition was held for the first time in Mysore and was opened by the Maharaja Chamarajendra Wadiyar on the 16th of the same month. The Exhibition was held in the Gordon Park (present University of Mysore Athletic Tracks), a prominent site having been selected midway between the New Public Offices (DC Office) and the Oriental Library (Oriental Research Institute - ORI). However, there has not been much information about such an event held during subsequent years.

In January 1903, Maharaja Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar attended the Delhi Durbar. There was an exhibition in Delhi and Mysore participated in it and its sandalwood and rosewood work drew appreciation from the Viceroy.

Again in December 1903, the Maharaja was invited to inaugurate the Madras Industrial and Arts Exhibition where he gave an eloquent speech on the history and importance of Exhibitions. Mysore also participated in this Exhibition.

In January and February 1906, the Prince and Princess of Wales (subsequently known as George V and Queen Mary) paid a visit to the State. To afford the august visitors an opportunity to see the products of the arts and industries of the State and its resources as well, an Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition was held at Mysore. Their Royal Highnesses paid a visit to it and evinced considerable interest in the exhibits. These events paved the way for the revival of Exhibition in Mysore.

In 1907, the Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition commenced during the period of the Dasara festivities at Mysore where agricultural and industrial products of the State and of places outside the State were exhibited and the use of the machinery and implements connected therewith were demonstrated and explained. The first Exhibition was held on October 5, 1907. This was held at the extant Fire Station area of Saraswathipuram.

The Maharaja inaugurating the next exhibition on 11.10.1908 said: As regards the desirability of holding the Exhibition every year, the President of the Committee has given good reasons for such a course, which is also in accordance with my own desires. I do not regard the question of expense as a very serious matter and I believe the outlay incurred to be justified by the results obtained. I sincerely hope that it will be practicable to continue the Exhibition as an annual institution and that it will grow yearly in usefulness and in the extent of its economic and educative influence.

But due to War effects, Dasara Exhibition seems to have been discontinued for eight years from 1919 to 1927. However, in April 1924, there was an exhibition in London of the resources of all parts of the British Empire. The Mysore Government participated in this exhibition in a manner befitting the importance of the State and its varied resources. A special Mysore court was established with a floor space of about 1,200 square feet occupying a prominent position in the Indian pavilion.

S.G. Sastry, who was at this time the Industrial Chemist to the Department, was placed in charge of this court. The exhibits from Mysore won the appreciation of all the visitors to the Mysore court and the opportunity afforded by the exhibition was utilised for finding new markets for the surplus products of the State.

The Dasara Exhibition at Mysore was re-opened in 1927 after an interval of 8 years and has continued to be held regularly from that year. But the venue was shifted to a ground next to Medical College which was then known as Horse Lines and from 1927 was reserved for Annual Exhibition.

By 1936, a new attractive building was added which presently belongs to Mysore Medical College. Even Mysore Akashavani functioned from this building for a few years.

As the Mysore Dasara Exhibition grew steadily in its scope and usefulness in all directions, especially with sphere, the space became a constraint. Thus the nearby Jakkarayana Kere (JK) Grounds was also added in 1949.

But around 1977 both the Exhibition Buildings and JK Grounds were handed over to Mysore Medical College and for the first time in 1977, the Exhibition was held at extant Dodda Kere Maidan.

Sri Vanamali, Dr. Mathoor Krishnamurthy Memorial Awards conferred

Mysuru, Oct.28 (YDS&US)- Sri Vanamali Charitable Trust had organised a function at Ganabharathi Veene Seshanna Bhavan in Kuvempunagar here yesterday where 'Sri Vanamali Samskruti Seva Award' was conferred on senior writer Nadoja Hampa Nagarajaiah and 'Padmasri Dr. Mathoor Krishnamurthy Samaja Seva Award' was conferred on Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement (SVYM) Founder Dr. R. Balasubramaniam. The awards were presented by senior scholar Dr. T.V. Venkatachala Sastry.

Speaking on the occasion, Nagarajaiah said that soul was the light of a person which should never be allowed to get extinguished. He opined that introspection was essential for a person to get reformed which in turn would help to reform the society.

Citing an example, Nagarajaiah said that in 1864 when US President Abraham Lincoln's son Robert once lost his balance and fell on a track, he (Robert) was lifted by a person. When Robert went to thank the good Samaritan, it was learnt that the person was a great actor. Unfortunately, the actor's brother for some reason assassinated Abraham Lincoln.

Immediately after that, the great actor was being referred as Abraham Killer's brother leaving behind the achievements of the actor, regretted Nagarajaiah saying that people recognise good artistes or achievers through a negative angle.

Continuing, Nagarajaiah contended that many important facts could be understood through life. He said that knowledge can be acquired partially through teachers and partially through common sense. However, what is learnt through society and life is unparalleled. Learning from all the four sources would make a person perfect, he said.

Wisdom deciphered

"A person without wisdom is like a ladle in a vessel of curry as the taste of curry could be appreciated only by the tongue and not the ladle. Similarly irrespective of acquiring any knowledge or degrees like MA and Ph.D or awards like Padmasri, knowledge fails without wisdom," explained Nagarajaiah.

Referring to an incident, Nagarajaiah said "A student in an Ashram asked the Guru the source of light which the latter says is Sun. The student asks the source if Sun was not there. The Guru says that the source could be then Moon or Star or Fire and if none is available, from the Soul which should be understood to lead a life."

If a stone is shaped like an idol of a deity, everyone worships. The same stone laid for steps would be climbed with footwear on, said Nagarajaiah recalling the good advice of his teachers. He also shared his experiences abroad.

Referring to the media hyping on MeToo movement, Nagarajaiah opined that the media should focus more on cultural programmes and constructive topics to motivate the youth.

Writer Dr. N.S. Taranath and GRAM Executive Director R. Basavaraj spoke on the award winners. On the occasion, book 'Sumananjali' in memory of the Trust's Founder-Secretary late Sumana Vishwanath was also released by Dr. T.V. Venkatachala Sastry.

The good Samaritan Ayub Hamid, who performs final rites of unclaimed bodies, was felicitated on the occasion. Trust President K. Sundara Raj, scholar Maddur Chandrashekhar and others were present.

Retired KAS Officer K.M. Chandregowda felicitated

Retired senior KAS officer K.M. Chandregowda, who was felicitated along with his wife Indumati, at a programme organised by K.M. Chandregowda Sneha Balaga at Rani Bahadur auditorium in Manasagangothri yesterday, is seen with Legal Expert Prof. C.K.N. Raja, writer and humorist Prof. M. Krishnegowda and others.

Mysuru, Oct.28 (SBD& US)- K.M. Chandregowda Sneha Balaga had organised a function at Rani Bahadur auditorium in Manasagangothri here yesterday to felicitate retired senior KAS officer K.M. Chandregowda.

Legal Expert Prof. C.K.N. Raja released a facilitatory volume 'Aptha' edited by Purigali Muradesha Murthy.

Speaking on the occasion, C.K.N. Raja lauded Chandregowda as an honest officer in the corrupt bureaucracy.

He said that Chandregowda was gifted with four virtues — honesty, integrity, transparency and discipline — which enabled him to take on the 'Kurukshetra' of Government service who falls in line with Sir M. Visvesvaraya and Thipperudraiah.

Continuing, Raja recalled that Chandregowda was able to take Government service to door steps of people like as MUDA Secretary providing possession certificate to needy people who were waiting for months.

He added that Chandregowda's wife Indumati, a science graduate, was also a backbone for the former's success.

Raja further said that the book 'Aptha' throws light on various incidents in Chandregowda's life like the latter's father Manchegowda feeling unhappy on Chandregowda buying a tiller claiming that it would take away the livelihood of many labourers.

Speaking on the occasion, writer and humorist Prof. M. Krishnegowda opined that a Government officer should treat 'power' as a 'coat' to be worn only on certain occasions. He added that Chandregowda followed that principle without misusing power.

Ridiculing the present Government service, Prof. Krishnegowda said that writer late Beechi had made fun of Government work where employees performed irrational work like issuing a birth certificate instead of death certificate.

Chandregowda and his wife were felicitated on the occasion.

Maharaja's College retired Principal Kalachannegowda, journalist Amshi Prasannakumar, Jana Chetana Trust President Prasanna N. Gowda, Srikant of DEED organisation and others were present during the programme.

Abrupt end to counselling

Teachers stage snap stir

Mysuru, Oct.28 (RKB&DM)- Hundreds of Government Primary School teachers resorted to a snap stir at NTM School premises on Narayana Shastri (NS) Road here this morning as the officials of the Education Department abruptly ended the counselling for request transfer, within a couple of hours it began.

Over 400 teachers from across the district had gathered at NTM School from early this morning, with the hope that they would get a transfer order to their liking.

As announced, the counselling began at 9 am and over 25 teachers were issued transfer order, when officials from the Department of Public Instruction abruptly ended the counselling at about 11 am, citing a WhatsApp message from the Commissioner of Public Instruction at Bengaluru to immediately stop the counselling process.

The abrupt end to the counselling made the teachers furious, who resorted to a snap stir, demanding resumption of counselling.

The teachers alleged that the counselling was halted due to the pressure exerted on the Commissioner by some vested interests, who were protecting the cause of teachers serving in cities since years.

The protesting teachers, most of them from taluk and village levels, further alleged that the Department was attempting to close the doors on those teachers who had sought transfer to city schools, after serving in rural schools for over two decades, travelling over 100 kms daily from their homes.

They further claimed that the Department had deliberately deferred the counselling twice, once on Oct.22 and the other on Oct.25, bowing to the pressure of the lobby that protected only the interests of teachers serving in city schools.

Upon learning of the stir, the Devaraja Police rushed to the spot and provided security.

Meanwhile, DDPI S. Mamatha when contacted by Star of Mysore, said that the teacher counselling on request transfer began at 9 am this morning. But at 11 am, the Department Commissioner sent her a WhatsApp message asking her to immediately terminate the counselling process until further notice. Based on the Commissioner's message, the counselling was stopped and she had only followed the Commissioner's instruction, the DDPI said.

A three-dimension LED display featuring Chamundi Hill, Mahishasura Mardhini, Jumboo Savari, Puja Kunita, Dollu Kunita and other folk dances are other major highlights of this Park. Though the Lantern Park is not fully completed, there are some sections that will attract visitors.

Thousands of Silk Lanterns produced in China, depicting the tradition of the land, other costly materials and equipment have been used to create this Park. The Lantern Park has been set up at Zilla Panchayat Block at the Exhibition Grounds. The team of 20 people from China and over 30 local workers are responsible for setting up the lanterns and are working round-the-clock since Oct. 4 to complete the project.

The Chinese team is from Sichuan province, the epicentre of Chinese-lantern making. In the city of Zigong, this technique is preserved the best and they have more than 1,000 artisans who live there and all their family have been there for generations, so most of their skills are passed down.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, M. Nikitha and M. Nikhila, Founders of Dream Petals, said that the Lantern Park will be a major tourist attraction. "We are working full-time and are chasing the deadline. If we had more time, we would have completed the project before the grand finale of Dasara," they said.

HOW THEY ARE MADE

Artists design lanterns from the ground up, drawing schematics on computers and physical outlines on plywood sheets. With templates, welders craft lantern forms with thin metal rods and later, electricians install internal LEDs, closely following curves and choosing warmer or cooler light depending on the desired colour qualities.

Once this process is done, polyester dyed for specific characters is carefully glued onto the forms. Later, the chief artist manages the placement and assembly of the scenes around the site. Then he paints details onto each piece.

Nalwadi's speech at Dasara Expo in 1907

Here is the excerpts of the speech that Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar delivered during the opening of the Dasara Exhibition on Oct.5, 1907.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is with the utmost satisfaction that I find myself today in the position of presiding at the opening of this Exhibition. The President of the Executive Committee, in the address to which we have listened with interest, has recalled the fact that nineteen years ago, my father, of revered memory, presided at the opening of a similar exhibition in Mysore, and has reminded us of the heartfelt interest that he took in the undertaking. For some years past, it has been my earnest desire to see the Dasara Exhibition revived and placed, if possible, on a permanent footing and it was, therefore, with peculiar satisfaction that I sanctioned the proposals which have resulted in what we see around us today.

Our objects and hopes have been very clearly explained by the President in his address and I need to add a little to what he has said. It is not to be expected that exhibitions of this kind should have an immediate or revolutionary influence on the agriculture and industries of the country. But they offer to all classes an opportunity of seeing what their neighbours are producing; to craftsmen they are of especial use in indicating the directions in which their skill may be most usefully directed, whilst distributors may learn from them of new markets on the one hand, and on the other, of new sources of supply. Whatever disappointments may be in store for us, I have no doubt whatever of their educative value and of their far-reaching influence in the cause of progress. I attach great importance to the policy that we propose to follow of holding these exhibitions annually.

Experience shows that, when they are held at long intervals, the lessons learnt from the successes or failures of one year are forgotten when the opportunity of profiting by them next occurs. Exhibitors are apt to remember their disappointments and the trouble and expense incurred rather than the benefits gained, and the result is, inexperience on the part of the executive and misdirected energy or apathy on that of exhibitors. It is our hope that an annual exhibition will produce continuity of effort and steady progress on both sides.

While I and my Government appreciate the utility of exhibitions, we recognise the need for continuous effort in other directions. It is with a view to meet this need that, to mention a few instances, a scientific Agricultural Department has been gradually equipped, that Technical Schools have been instituted at convenient centres, that a Veterinary Department is in process of formation, that the Geological and Forest Departments have for years been taking stock of the resources of the State and, last but not least, that efforts are being made to organise industrial and agricultural capital.

Though this last subject may not seem at first sight immediately connected with the Exhibition, I make no apology for drawing your attention to the existence of the Co-operative Societies Regulation and of a highly qualified officer, specially deputed to advise and assist those who desire to take advantage of its provisions.

Under the co-operative system, any local body of craftsmen or agriculturists, however poor and however limited in numbers, has the means of acquiring gradually, and from small beginnings, sufficient capital to provide for immediate needs and for future progress, and I would urge on all educated and enlightened men, whether immediately concerned or not, with agriculture, crafts or commerce, the duty of promoting these societies to the extent of their ability. Apart from the material return, which is their immediate object, such societies have, in every country where they have taken root, proved great moral educators and promoters of mutual confidence, self-reliance and honest enterprise. The Government has given the facilities and it is for you to take advantage of them.

Before I conclude, I desire to express our gratitude to the various Governments and Administrations headed by the Supreme Government, as well as to the Agricultural and other Departments under their control and, no less, to the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railways, for their prompt and generous co-operation in our efforts to make the Exhibition a success. It is a most welcome and encouraging manifestation of the attitude of the Paramount Power towards indigenous enterprise and I do not doubt that I express the sentiments of my people in acknowledging it, as I now do, in a spirit of goodwill as hearty as that which inspired it.

It only remains for me now to declare the Exhibition open and to express my earnest hope that, growing yearly in usefulness, it may contribute, in ever-increasing measure, to the advancement of my people along the path of true and wholesome prosperity.

Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar

G.H. Krumbiegel's letter to Planters

Gustav Hermann Krumbiegel

Alyia Phelps Gardiner Krumbiegel

This is a letter written by Horticulturist G.H. Krumbiegel (who designed the Brindavan Gardens) in 1909 to all the Planters in South India to participate in the Dasara Exhibition. This original letter was shared with Star of Mysore by his great grand-daughter Alyia Phelps Gardiner Krumbiegel, who heads the GHK Foundation.

Mysore Dasara Exhibition, 1909

Mr. G. H. Krumbiegel, Superintendent, Mysore Government Botanic Gardens, desires that the attention of all Planters in Southern India be invited to the coming Dasara Exhibition at Mysore City. The following is a circular letter intended for every such Planter:

— MYSORE GOVERNMENT BOTANIC GARDENS,
LAL-BAGH, BANGALORE,
20th March, 1909

My Dear Sir,

Having been appointed President of the Dasara Exhibition Committee, I should greatly esteem it, if you would favour the coming Exhibition with your patronage.

I noticed at the last Exhibition, Plantation produce was very poorly or not at all represented.

Most probably the cause for this lies in the fact that by the time the prospectus is issued, Planters have disposed of their produce and for this reason I take the liberty to address you now.

I think, before looking to the extension of the scope of the Exhibition, it is very desirable that we should make a really representative show of the Agricultural, Plantation and Industrial products of the Province and adjoining districts.

You would greatly help this cause by very kindly preparing, as opportunity arises, a complete and representative Exhibit in Rubber, Coffee, Tea, Cardamom, Pepper, Fibres, etc., or other products you may be growing.

Also the exhibiting of any machinery used in the preparation and the mode of packing for export, etc., of your particular products would be of greatest interest.

Should it be inconvenient to you to keep the exhibits with you till the Dasara, I shall be glad to receive them now, take care of them and arrange to stage them at the Exhibition.

Anticipating a favourable reply,

I am,

Yours faithfully,

Leeds, Oct.28- India's Sourav Kothari defeated Peter Gilchrist of Singapore 1134-944 of to clinch the 2018 WBL World Billiards Championship title in Leeds on Friday.

The former national and Asian Billiards champion was pipped at the post for the coveted World Billiards crown on two occasions in the last two years, including a loss to Gilchrist in the 2016 final in Bengaluru.

Earlier in the semis, Kothari steered his way to a dramatic victory in the dying minutes of the game over 6-time World and defending champion David Causier of England by 1317-1246.

The script of the semifinal match was nothing short of a fairy tale for Kothari who at one stage of the match trailed by more than 500 points with almost no hope of getting back into the match, given Causier's uncanny capacity of relentless high break building and scoring.

To make matters worse for India, fifth seed Srikanth gave a good account of himself but eventually lost steam against top seed Kento Momota of Japan.

Two arrested for attempting to sell Pangolin

Mysuru, Oct.28 (YDS&KS)- The Mysuru Forest Mobile Squad personnel have arrested two persons while they were attempting to sell a Pangolin (Scaly Anteater) and have recovered the Pangolin besides seizing the car used for the crime.

The arrested have been identified as Anil Kumar of Sathanur and Syed Hinayat Ulla of Bengaluru.

Acting on a tip off, the Forest Mobile Squad personnel, led by DCF Poovaiah, arrested the accused while they were trying to sell the Pangolin near Nalaguru in Malavalli taluk of Mandya district and recovered the live Pangolin besides seizing the car (KA-11 B-3244) used for the crime.

It is learnt that there is a gang which smuggles the Pangolins which are on the verge of extinction and sell them to prospective customers for Rs.3 to 4 lakh.

About Indian Pangolin

The Indian Pangolin (Scaly Anteater) is found in the Indian sub-continent. It is not common anywhere in its range. Pangolins are threatened by poaching (for their meat and scales) and heavy deforestation of their natural habitats, and are the most trafficked mammals in the world.

Most Pangolins are nocturnal animals that use their well-developed sense of smell to find insects as they are insectivorous. The long-tailed pangolin is also active by day, while other species of Pangolins spend most of the daytime sleeping, curled up into a ball. They are considered to be shy and secretive creatures. They have a very poor sense of vision, so they rely heavily on smell and hearing.

Major threats to Pangolins in India are hunting and poaching for local consumptive use (example: As a protein source and traditional medicine) and international trade, for its meat and scales in East and South East Asian countries, particularly China and Vietnam. There is now greater evidence of its inclusion in illicit international trade, in particular its scales, from both India and Pakistan, with Myanmar and China comprising the most likely, final destinations.

Pangolins are Schedule I species protected under the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972 in India. Any person caught poaching or illegally trading these animals can be sentenced to up to seven years of rigorous imprisonment and also fined.

Conmen give fake ayurveda medicines, cheat Parkinson's patient of Rs. 1.5 lakh

Mysuru, Oct.28 (SPN&KS)- Two persons, giving fake medicines to a Parkinson's disease patient in city and cheating him to the tune of Rs.1.5 lakh has come to light lately.

While the patient, who was cheated, is Rajegowda of Vijayanagar, the conmen who allegedly cheated him are Guru and Manoj Kumar.

The incident: A few days ago, when Rajegowda was walking near his house, a bike rider stopped and offered a drop besides introducing him as Guru.

Guru, who noticed tremors in Rajegowda's hands, asked Rajegowda about it to which he (Rajegowda) told Guru that he has been suffering from Parkinson's disease since many days.

Guru then told Rajegowda that his father too was suffering from the same disease and he had got him treated at an Ayurveda Hospital in K.R. Mohalla and now his father was completely cured of the disease besides asking Rajegowda to get himself treated at the same hospital.

Believing Guru, Rajegowda asked him to take him to the hospital. Guru, who took Rajegowda to the AYURVEDA Hospital, introduced him to one Manoj Kumar there. Manoj, who took the details of the disease from Rajegowda, told him that the medicines would cost him Rs.1.5 lakh besides assuring him that he would be cured of the disease in 15 days.

Believing Manoj, Rajegowda gave Rs.80,000 through Guru and told Manoj that he would give the balance amount the next day. Manoj then gave Rajegowda two types of medicines telling him that one type of medicine cost Rs.8,500 per gram and the other Rs.9,500 a gram, to which two litres of coconut oil has to be mixed and asked Rajegowda to apply the mixture on his body and hands.

Rajegowda then took Guru to a bank and gave a cheque (No.234752) for the balance amount in the name of one Raman N. Pandit which was transferred from his account on Sept.29, 2018.

After using the medicines for a few days and finding no effective results from it, Rajegowda gave a call to the mobile number on the visiting card only to receive the message that the phone was switched off.

Rajegowda then went to the place where Guru had taken him only to find that it was a rented place. On enquiring, the owner of the house, Rajegowda came to know that Manoj had taken the house on rent for two months and after the completion of the period, he had vacated the place.

Rajegowda, who came to know that he was cheated, has lodged a complaint at K.R. Police Station in this regard.

WORD OF THE DAY

Quip

Pronunciation: KWIP

Meaning: A clever usually taunting remark; a witty or funny observation or response usually made on the spur of the moment or something strange, droll, curious, or eccentric : oddity

Origin: Quip is an abbreviation of quippy, a noun that is no longer in use. Etymologists believe that quippy derived from the Latin quippe, a word meaning "indeed" or "to be sure" that was often used ironically. The earliest sense of quip, referring to a cutting or sarcastic remark, was common for approximately a century after it first appeared in print in the early 1500s. It then fell out of use until the beginning of the 19th century, when it underwent a revival that continues to the present day.

Example: To almost every comment I made, Adam responded with a quip and a smile.

THE ODD WORD

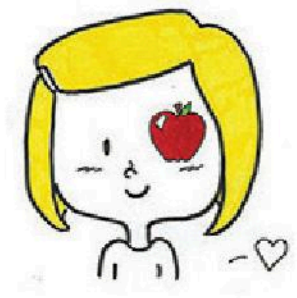
Lycanthropy

The supernatural transformation of a person into a wolf.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Apple of my eye

Meaning: The person of whom one is extremely fond, favourite, loving; someone or something that is very precious.



Origin: The phrase originally had anatomical reference and was used to denote the central aperture of the eye. The expression first appeared in Old English in 885 AD, in a work attributed to King Alfred (the Great) of Wessex, titled Gregory's Pastoral Care. It was later used by Shakespeare in 1600 in his play A Midsummer Night's Dream and also appeared in English translations of the Bible in 1611. However, the phrase was more commonly used after it appeared in Sir Walter Scott's novel Old Mortality in 1816.

Example: My granddaughter is the apple of my eye, said the old man, lovingly looking at her playing in the distance.
